Dear Mr. McCone:

25X1A9a

Our Committee on trade relations with the European Communist countries has now completed its process of education through briefings from those Government agencies who have operating responsibilities or expert knowledge in this field. I would like you to know that as far as expert knowledge is concerned, the performance of [REDACTED] and his colleagues from your agency was consistently impressive. All of us on the Committee have great admiration for the way they organized and presented their material and for the command of subject matter they displayed in answering questions.

I am deeply appreciative of the cooperation of your organization in this work and, particularly, for the efforts of these officers. Their performance reflects great credit on the Central Intelligence Agency.

Sincerely,

J. Irwin Miller

The Honorable John A. McCone
Director of Central Intelligence
Washington, D. C.
